

Compiler: It is a software that converts high level language into ml level language. by reading the entire source file at once.

Interpreter: It is a software that converts "MLL" to "MLL" by reading individual instruction from the source file each

